

Examples of laminate and Velcro® name activities

These are easy, reusable activities that require little writing. First is a laminated sheet with the student's name and distracters; he uses a fat crayon to circle or mark his name. Second is a laminated grid with the student's name. The student matches the letters of his name by attaching the laminated letters that are backed with Velcro®, to the Velcro® strip below. Last is a laminated sheet with the student's name, which he traces with a wax crayon or texta.
